

Starting July 1, 2026

Tampa Family Health Centers (TFHC) is thrilled to announce our newly accredited Pediatrics Residency Program sponsored by the Nova Southeastern University Dr. Kiran C. Patel College of Osteopathic Medicine (NSU-KPCOM)! We are proud to be only the second community health center-based pediatrics residency in the country. Our 3-year program offers comprehensive training at TFHC alongside our partners at AdventHealth Tampa, AdventHealth for Children: Tampa Pediatric Specialty Clinic, Johns Hopkins All Children's Hospital in St. Pete and various community subspecialists. We are currently accepting ERAS applications for our inaugural class starting July 1, 2026.

We are seeking creative, compassionate future pediatricians committed to serving their community by providing excellent, evidence-based care to the children of Tampa Bay. Our program will foster the development of innovative pediatric leaders who will work with program leadership to continually grow and improve the program to best meet the needs of our residents and patients. Our dedicated team of faculty and community partners is thrilled to help our residents become outstanding pediatricians!

Jenifer Haynes, DO | Program Director

Dr. Haynes is a board-certified pediatrician and fellow of the American Academy of Pediatrics with over 10 years of experience in education and healthcare. She holds a master's degree in education and is board certified in both pediatric obesity medicine and as an internationally board-certified lactation counselor.
